

This will bring great harm to us Ham Operators and Emergency Workers. The BPL was tested in another country and it failed, yet they also had a disaster and lost all communications thanks to BPL. Broadband can go over phone lines to these people that live in rural areas. Or better yet they can move to a better location. Ham Radio Operators are also vital in the Homeland Security!! If there were another terror attack on us and you have this BPL crap goin it will kill all of our communications. DO YOU REALLY WANT THAT? I don't think so. Ham Operators are a great asset when it comes to emergencies no matter what they are. If we lose a repeater because of the BPL crap then lives will be lost. You know that life can be your mom, dad, brother, sister, wife, and or kids. Would you want to be responsible for that?? I don't think so!

Heck if this BPL were to be approved and it shut down a repeater and I lost my mom, dad, brother, sister, wife, and or kids I will SUE the heck out of the FCC, the power companies, the BPL companies, and ever member of our government that approved this BPL Crap! I'm sure that there will also be more people out there that would do the same thing. Your probley also wasting our tax dollars on this BPL Crap when it could be used to protect us from terrorist and to also help our own homeless people.

So I incourage you to throw this BPL Crap out and not to ever consider it again. If you want to continue with it then find away to use phone companies!

Thanks!!
